

Watson River

Murky, convoluted.

Clear. Very clear.

COMMUNICATE CLEARLY

Let your documents reflect the same professionalism that guides your technical work.

Allow your senior reviewers to focus on scientific content instead of style and grammar issues.

Provide a logical and accurate message to your readers, free of distracting errors or ambiguities.

Ensure the spotlight is on the quality of your work.

Add value to your investment.

Good editing is invisible. Mistakes are not.

I am a professional geologist and a communicator. I offer technical editing services to engineering firms, mining companies, and scientific organizations. With over 30 years of experience in mineral exploration and in government, I help clients communicate clearly and effectively. I edit documents such as technical reports, news releases, memos, and project proposals.

I am a member of Engineers and Geoscientists BC and of and Editors Canada.
